Bret Michaels will Rock the Trop September 21st

Atlantic City, NJ (April 25, 2012) –Poison’s Bret Michaels will give you “Something to Believe In” when he takes the stage at the Tropicana Showroom Friday, September 21st at 9 p.m.

Michaels works hard, but rocks harder. With more than 25 million albums sold, 15 Top 40 hits, a long-standing position as spokesman for the American Diabetes Association (ADA), and the title of “Celebrity Apprentice: Season 3” winner under his belt, it seems he has seen and done it all.

Michaels began his career as the front man for the legendary rock band Poison. Together, they cranked out chart-busting hits such as “Talk Dirty to Me,” “Something to Believe in,” “Nothing But a Good Time,” and “Every Rose has its Thorn.” He currently has four solo albums and tours with the Bret Michaels Band.

After 25 years in the music industry, Michaels’ career launched to new levels when his reality TV series “Rock of Love” had three record-breaking seasons, making it one of the most successful in VH1’s history. The series followed Michaels on his quest to find love. Soon after, he astounded audiences when he won the title of Trump’s “Celebrity Apprentice” in 2010. He has been involved with many other television projects since, including “Bret Michaels: Life as I know it”, “Don’t Forget the Lyrics”, and “The Bret Michaels True Hollywood Story.”

In addition to his work in television, touring, and philanthropy, Michaels will also be releasing a new solo album titled “Get Your Rock On,” on June 12, 2012. Michaels will, moreover, be releasing a new line with Pet Smart, The Bret Michaels: Pets Rock Collection on June 17th.

It doesn’t stop there. When the lights are dim on stage and on set, Michaels serves as the spokesperson for National Diabetes month and has even been awarded for his efforts in raising awareness and funds for the ADA.
