Montgomery Gentry brings their “Hillybilly Shoes” to Tropicana The superstar Country Music duo will rock the stage May 27th

ATLANTIC CITY, NJ (April 10, 2012) —Average Joes, yes, but Montgomery Gentry has taken the country music industry by storm. These hard-running honkey tonkers will captivate Atlantic City with their Southern swag on Sunday, May 27, 2012 in the Showroom at Tropicana Casino and Resort.

Eddie Montgomery and Troy Gentry are poised to stake their claim as one of country music’s all-time greatest duos. These Kentucky natives first broke onto the national scene in 1999 with the defiant “Hillbilly Shoes” and have had fourteen Top 10 Singles including “Something to be Proud of”, “If you Ever Stop Loving Me”, “Lucky Man” and “Roll with Me”. Their unique blend of country, southern rock and Everly Brothers-like harmonies combined with relatable lyrics has won over the hearts of adoring fans.

Because Montgomery Gentry has remained true to their working class roots, fans are able to truly connect to their music. They’ve collaborated with entertainers such as Charlie Daniels, Toby Keith, Randy Owen and even members of the Allman Brothers Band.

In 2009, Montgomery Gentry was inducted into the venerable Grand Ole Opry and has won Country Music Association and Academy of Country Music Awards. In addition to being nominated for a Grammy, they have been acknowledged by the Academy of Country Music with their Humanitarian Award for 2010. They are active participants in many charitable organizations, including the US military, TJ Martell Foundation, Camp Horsin’ Around and the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Middle Tennessee.

Have a foot stompin’ good time at their performance at 8 p.m. in the Tropicana Showroom on Sunday, May 27, 2012. Tickets are $45, $55, $65 and $75 and are available through Ticketmaster at www.ticketmaster.com or via phone at 1.800.736.1420, or at the Tropicana Box Office.
